Hi Lisa,

Here is the additional from Mary Ellen. IDF like to extend the embargo for one additional year, or until I write again to lift it, whichever is sooner.

Thank you.

Ryan.

Hello MaryEllen,

If possible, I like to extend the embargo on my dissertation for another year so some of the data can be published in journals. Please let me know what I would need to do to extend the embargo.

Thank you,

Ryan Nistler

Hi Ryan,

Yes, it is possible to extend the embargo. To request additional time you would need to email Dr. Mary Ellen Lane, Associate Dean in GSBS, MaryEllen.Lane@umassmed.edu. Please let her know why you'd like to extend the embargo (typically this is because publication of the dissertation would impact a publishing agreement) and how much more time you need (typically no more than an additional year).

Please forward me Dr. Lane's approval and I'll extend the embargo for you.

Best,
Lisa

Lisa,

Thank you for the update. If I'd like to extend the embargo, is it possible to do so?

Thanks,
Ryan

Dear Ryan,

Your PhD dissertation, "Small RNA Regulation of the Innate Immune Response: A Role for Dicer in the Control of Viral Production and Sensing of Nucleic Acids," has been added to eScholarship@UMMS, the medical school's digital archive of scholarly publications. Here is the permanent link to your dissertation:

http://escholarship.umassmed.edu/gsbs_diss/834/

Please note: On the submission approval form that you filled out for GSBS, you requested a delay before the full text of your dissertation is available in the repository. Your full dissertation will be available for download on March 9, 2017. In the meantime, you'll see that the abstract is available for viewing.

The link above is a permanent link that you can refer people to and include on your CV. You will periodically receive emails from our system notifying you of how often your dissertation has been downloaded.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Congratulations on completing your dissertation!

Best regards,
Lisa
