Hey, why is your mom coming over?

Hi girls! Welcome to Adulthood!

She said she’s bringing over the papers I need now that I’m in my own place.

Hi Mrs. Lee!

Hi Mom!

What is all of this?

Well, now that you’re moved out, I want to make sure you have all of your important papers.

I found a checklist called “My ‘Must Have’ Papers” that lists the things that you will need to always have with you. You know why you need the fire extinguisher.

It says here that essential documents for everyone are birth certificate, social security card, a state ID or driver’s license, and a passport.

I put your passport and birth certificate in a folder within the box, but I could only find a copy of your social security card. You should be able to request a new one through SSA.gov.
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

• This info-comic is based on the L&W RRTC’s tip sheet “My Must Have Papers.”
• Need a More Accessible Document? Read the Comic Transcript.

The contents of this comic were supported in part under grants with funding from the National Institute on Disability, Independent Living, and Rehabilitation Research (NIDILRR), United States Department of Health and Human Services (NIDILRR grant numbers 90RTEM0005 and 90RT5005). The Learning and Working Transitions RRTC (NIDILRR) is a Center within the Administration for Community Living (ACL), Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). The contents of this tip sheet do not necessarily represent the policy of NIDILRR, ACL, or HHS and you should not assume endorsement by the Federal Government.

This publication can be made available in alternative formats upon request through TransitionsACR@umassmed.edu.

© 2023 UMass Chan Medical School. All Rights Reserved.